

INLAND NORTHWEST WOODTURNERS NEWSLETTER

Next Meeting is replaced by the annual picnic, Sunday, August 3, 2008 at Norm and Floy Ann MacPhee's in Nine Mile Falls.

July Meeting 2008

Don't forget, no regular Thursday evening meeting in August.

Open Turning:

Recently it was overheard that "...we don't have a good meeting unless we make a mess." We made a mess.

Charlie Benson demonstrates the proper form of a two piece salt vessel.

Norm MacPhee shows how to glue-up and cap a turned corner shelf.

Rich Krueger talks about proportion and fit on a lidded box

The Sharing Table

Showing off our work gives the opportunity to develop new ideas, visualize shapes or new design, and in the July highlight, Tom Ruel's master carving gives us something to strive for.

Bob Schmidt's platters with an asymmetrical band & Carl Bodenstein's bowl in a bowl.

Upcoming Events:

The September meeting (9/4/08) will feature a demonstration by Bruce Campbell. See www.artisansworkbench.com for some of Bruce's work.

Our website is up and running. A little fine tuning and the basic format will be done. The site is about our members and an important part is the members gallery. Submit photos of yourself and your work to our webmaster, Bob Schmidt at bob@air-pipe.com.

If you don't have a digital camera or want some help with the photo setup, let me know by email (pondcabin@comcast.net). If there is enough interest, we'll schedule a photo opportunity before one of the meetings. The club has a light staging box and several members will volunteer their cameras and assistance.

Look for this newsletter under Newsletters/Events, July08 INW Newsletter.pdf. In the future the newsletter will be published only to the website and we will not mail hard copies to members. If you're uncomfortable using a computer, ask around for some help. It's just another power tool.

Keep turning!
